South FACES Non-profit organizations and community groups can now apply for Mini-Grants to support free, or low cost events or activities to connect families in South King County.

South FACES recognizes the challenges families, especially those with young children, face during these tough economic times. South FACES is accepting applications for mini-grants, from $250-$500, to help non-profit organizations and community groups provide opportunities for families with young children to enjoy free, fun family activities, establish connections to community resources, and build social networks among families. Grant funds cannot be used for commercial, for-profit activities.
